LONDON PRO ARTE CHOIR

The London Pro Arte Choir has a reputation for excellence, which our musical director, Leon Lovett, has developed over many years. We have appeared frequently at our home venue of St Michael's Church, Mill Hill, elsewhere in North London, and at major London venues including St. James's Piccadilly and the Royal Albert Hall. We have also appeared a number of times on BBC Television in "Joy to the World".

We are a versatile choir with a varied repertoire including many of the major choral works, and we are accustomed to singing music of all periods and styles. We are equally at ease singing Bach, Bernstein, Brahms or Britten or accompanying Lesley Garrett, Ben Luxon or Cliff Richard! We work in association with the English Baroque Orchestra, which includes some of this country's finest professional instrumentalists, and we also encourage young talented soloists and instrumentalists wherever possible.

We enjoy the challenge of singing new works as well as familiar ones. We look forward to singing Britten's St. Nicholas Cantata, and Handel's Christmas music this winter as we have often performed concerts of Handel's music in St. Lawrence's Church, Canons Park where he was organist for the Duke of Chandos. In the summer we are performing Elgar's - The Dream of Gerontius with Epsom Choral Society.
